Who to Contact for Help With Quality-of-Life Issues

Part of epilepsy self-management is learning how to improve your quality of life. In addition to your healthcare team, there are other people in your community who can help you navigate this journey. Here are some ways of finding help:

Reference